DETAILED ACTION

Claims 20-34 are pending in the instant application.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 20-22, drawn to a screening method to identify a gene regulating the differentiation from stem cells into natural killer cells.

Group II, claim(s) 23-34, drawn to a method of differentiating a stem cell into a natural killer cell, or differentiating a premature natural killer cell into a mature natural killer cell, comprising administering an effective amount of one or more genes.

The inventions listed as Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

According to PCT Rule 13.2, unity of invention exists only when the shared same or corresponding technical feature is a contribution over the prior art. The inventions listed as Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept because they lack the same or corresponding special technical feature. Groups I and II are drawn to processes; however, none of the process steps of the method of Group I are shared with the method of Group II. Accordingly, there is no subject matter in common between the two groups, and unity of invention is lacking.

The technical feature of Group I is the method steps to identify genes that regulate the differentiation of stem cells to natural killer cells.

The technical feature of Group II is the method step of administering one or more nucleic acid molecules.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows: one or more genes selected from the genes recited in claims 23, 24, 26, 29, 30, 32 and/or 33.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species, which is one gene or one combination of genes recited in the abovementioned claim(s), to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: claims 23, 24, 26, 29, 30, 32 and 33 are generic to one or more of the recited species of gene or gene combination.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Claims 23, 24, 26, 29, 30, 32 and 33 are claimed in Markush-type format. According to PCT Rule 13.2 and to the guidelines in Section (f)(i)(A) and Section (f)(i)(B)(1) of Annex B of the PCT Administrative instructions, all alternatives of a Markush group must have a common property or activity and a common structure. The nucleic acid sequences of the abovementioned claims each have a different chemical structure and do not share a common structure. For example, the homeobox protein MIX has a different nucleotide sequence than pre-pro-proteinase 3, and the combination of homeobox protein MIX and myeloblastosis oncogene has a different chemical structure than homeobox protein MIX and keratin complex 1, acidic, gene 13. Since the polynucleotides are not homologous to each other, they fail to share a common structure, i.e., a significant structural element. The sugar-phosphate backbone cannot be considered a significant structural element, since it is shared by all nucleic acid molecules. Therefore, the nucleic acid sequences of the abovementioned claims cannot be considered as having the same or corresponding technical feature.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
